IMDb IMDb - Summer Palace (2006) A: You need to download the VOB file to which the AVCHD stream is encoded, and you need to decode it with a player that supports.VOB files. Most VLC, Mplayer and MPC-HC supports this. However, when I started to think about it a bit deeper, I see that it still leaves some problems unsolved that are preventing me from trying it out (and maybe other people). For example, I have a Windows domain. This is a really good system that is well respected in the business world. It's secure, easily extended, works well with Active Directory and allows things like e-mail and profile synchronization. I really don't see why I should switch to OpenID for the simple purpose of password resets. If I just store all my passwords in the cloud in my browser, I might as well just use a Google account. They have all the "convenience" features that OpenID offers - you're already logged in with that Google account, and all I would have to do is give a link to my email provider and I'm set. In fact, this would be the default solution if OpenID did not exist. And for simple users like myself f678ea9f9e
